

MONETISATION AUDIT

Kristi Rieder

@kristi_bewellforlife · 37,424 followers (public data)

Sourdough starter care and baking, built around your own Double-Feed Method: taking bakers from a sluggish, sour starter to a lively one they bake with confidence.

ESTIMATED REVENUE RANGE · ESTIMATE

$2,697 to $139,500

Estimate. The bottom of the range is the ebook sales; the top is a full year of one-to-one coaching, capped at your 93 estimated buyers ($93 \times $1,500$).

MEDIAN · ESTIMATE

$9,223.50

MEAN · ESTIMATE

$9,886.75

MID-RANGE · ESTIMATE

$71,098.50

Assumptions: 5% of followers are engaged and 5% of those buy; group coaching is 2 to 8 people per 8-week cohort; one-to-one is 1 to 20 hours a week; the maximum is a full year of six 8-week blocks. Median and mean count each coaching product at the middle of its 8-week range.

Shared scale, all figures estimates. Darker bars are 8 weeks; the lighter part is "a year" (six 8-week blocks).

You film the bakes and run the sessions. We host and run everything else, with nothing to pay upfront.

What your numbers say

You bake fresh sourdough at your micro bakery in Romeo, Michigan, and you teach home bakers how you do it. The posts that travel furthest are the ones where you explain your own Double-Feed Method.

The comment counts on the Double-Feed posts are unusually high. Why people commented isn't confirmed, so this audit treats them as attention, not proven demand. Your merch and menu posts draw far less: your audience follows you for the method.

Three content pillars

1 · STARTER SCIENCE

The Double-Feed Method, signs of a healthy starter beyond bubbles, and how your starter sets the fermentation timeline.

2 · MICRO BAKERY LIFE

Forty pounds of dough in the bins, the weekly menu, and what you'd tell a friend to have before starting a micro bakery.

3 · BAKE WITH CONFIDENCE

Traditional sourdough made simple, for home bakers who want loaves they're proud of.

THE WORKING

Where the number comes from

Every figure here is an estimate built from one public number, your follower count, and a fixed model. Each step rounds down to whole people.

F · Followers (public data)	37,424
E · Engaged audience: 5% of 37,424 = 1,871.2, rounded down	1,871
B · Buyers: 5% of 1,871 = 93.55, rounded down	93

The four products

PRODUCT	PRICE	WHAT THE FIGURE RESTS ON	REVENUE (ESTIMATE)
Ebook: The Double-Feed Method	$29	93 buyers	$93 \times $29 = $2,697$
Online course: starter to loaf	$200	93 buyers	$93 \times $200 = $18,600$
Group bake-along (8 weeks)	$500	2 to 8 people per cohort	$1,000 to $4,000 per cohort $24,000 a year
One-to-one coaching (8 weeks)	$1,500	1 to 20 hours a week, one client per hour	$1,500 to $30,000 per 8 weeks $139,500 a year

The two coaching ranges

GROUP BAKE-ALONG

Per 8 weeks: $2 \times $500 = $1,000$ to $8 \times $500 = $4,000$.

Per year: six cohorts hold $8 \times 6 = 48$ places. You have 93 estimated buyers, enough to fill all 48, so $48 \times \$500 = \$24,000$ a year.

ONE-TO-ONE COACHING

Per 8 weeks: 1 hour a week $\times $1,500 = $1,500$ to 20 hours a week $\times $1,500 = $30,000$.

Per year: six blocks at 20 hours hold 120 programmes, but you have 93 estimated buyers. With 93 buyers, one-to-one could make you $93 \times $1,500 = $139,500$ a year.

THE WORKING, CONTINUED

The range and the averages

Minimum · the ebook sales: $93 \times $29$	$2,697
Maximum · the largest year figure: one-to-one, $93 \times $1,500$ (bigger than group at $24,000 and the course at $18,600)	$139,500

For the averages, each coaching product counts at the middle of its 8-week range: group ($($1,000 + $4,000) \div 2$) = $2,500; one-to-one ($($1,500 + $30,000) \div 2$) = $15,750. In order, the four figures are $2,500, $2,697, $15,750 and $18,600.

Median · mean of the two middle figures: $($2,697 + $15,750) \div 2 = $18,447 \div 2$	$9,223.50
Mean · $($2,500 + $2,697 + $15,750 + $18,600) \div 4 = $39,547 \div 4$	$9,886.75
Mid-range · $(\text{minimum} + \text{maximum}) \div 2 = ($2,697 + $139,500) \div 2 = $142,197 \div 2$	$71,098.50

All five are estimates. The mid-range uses the year maximum; the median and mean use the 8-week middles for coaching, which is why they sit much lower.

On one scale

Darker bars are the 8-week range; the lighter part runs to the year figure ("a year", six 8-week blocks). All figures are estimates.

WHAT TO SELL

The product ladder

Your Double-Feed Method is named, specific and already drawing attention. That makes it a ready-made product: written down, filmed and taught. Each rung goes deeper into the same method.

01 Ebook: The Double-Feed Method $29

When and why to feed twice, the signs of an acidic starter, and a bake-day timeline. Autora writes it from your posts; all you do is confirm it's ready to go out. 93 × $29 = $2,697

For: home bakers whose starter is bubbly but not baking the loaves they want.

02 Online course: starter to loaf $200

Filmed in your kitchen and micro bakery, from preparing the starter with the Double-Feed Method through to the bake. 93 × $200 = $18,600

For: bakers who want to watch you do it, step by step, at their own pace.

03 Online bake-along group $500

An 8-week cohort of 2 to 8 bakers, with live troubleshooting of their own starters and loaves. $1,000–$4,000 per cohort
$24,000 a year

For: bakers who want feedback on their own starter, not just a recipe.

04 One-to-one baking coaching $1,500

Eight weeks, one hour a week per client, for example a home baker starting a micro bakery of their own. $1,500–$30,000 per 8 weeks
$139,500 a year (93 buyers)

For: bakers who want your full attention on their bakes and their plans.

Why the method is the product

The change you make for bakers is plain: from a sluggish or sour starter to a lively one they bake with confidence. You put it in your own words when you explained why you changed your feeding:

"I think it was because my starter seem like it was getting a little too acidic. It needed a little extra boost."

Kristi, in a DM, 1 October.

WHAT WE KNOW AND WHAT WE DON'T

Observed: about 37,000 followers, a micro bakery, merch on the way and no course or programme yet. Your Double-Feed posts drew very high comment counts (public data).

Not yet confirmed: that many bakers want help with their own starters. You haven't said so, and the comments don't tell us why people commented. That is the question your first post tests (page 11).

THE SPLIT

LAUNCH PLAN

Ask first, then build

Three steps, in order. Nothing gets built until your bakers have told you what goes wrong with their starters.

1Ask first

Post a story question asking bakers what goes wrong with their starter. Run the four-slide test post on page 11 alongside it. Count who answers and save what they say: their words become the course outline and the ebook's chapter titles.

2Film the course around the answers

Plan your filming around the problems bakers named, then film your bakes in your kitchen and micro bakery and send us the footage. Autora writes the ebook from your posts at the same time and sends it to you to confirm.

3Open a waitlist, then launch

Open a waitlist for the people who replied, then launch with a clear date and a real close. Autora builds the pages, checkout and emails; you post about it the way you already post about the Double-Feed Method.

WHAT NOT TO DO

Don't treat comment counts as proven demand, and don't promise sales or results. The test exists to find out what your bakers actually want before you film a single lesson.

READY TO POST

The first post

A four-slide carousel in your voice, built on the reason you started double-feeding. It tests one thing: whether bakers want the whole method in one guide.

SLIDE 1

Is your starter getting a little too sour?

Photo: your starter jar on the counter

SLIDE 2

That's why I started feeding mine twice before a bake.

SLIDE 3

I'm thinking of putting the whole Double-Feed Method in one guide, from feed to bake.

SLIDE 4

Comment "STARTER" if you'd want it.

Count the replies

READING THE RESULT

Comments saying "STARTER" are the signal, and the replies to your story question tell you what to put in the guide. Compare them with your usual comment counts before reading too much into the number.

WHAT TO DO NEXT

Start with the question, not the build.

1. Post the story question and the four-slide test from page 11.
2. Send over what your bakers say goes wrong with their starters.
3. We plan the ebook and the course around their answers, and you film the bakes.

Reply to this DM and I'll walk you through the numbers and what to build first.
